

Health and Social Care integration

Three planned audits of integration

1. December 2015 on emerging risks.
2. A more comprehensive audit looking at progress in 2017
3. An audit on the impact of the reforms on outcomes

Statutory duty to integrate

31 new Integration Authorities

2 different governance structures

Local variations in services that are integrated

At least 2 localities within each area

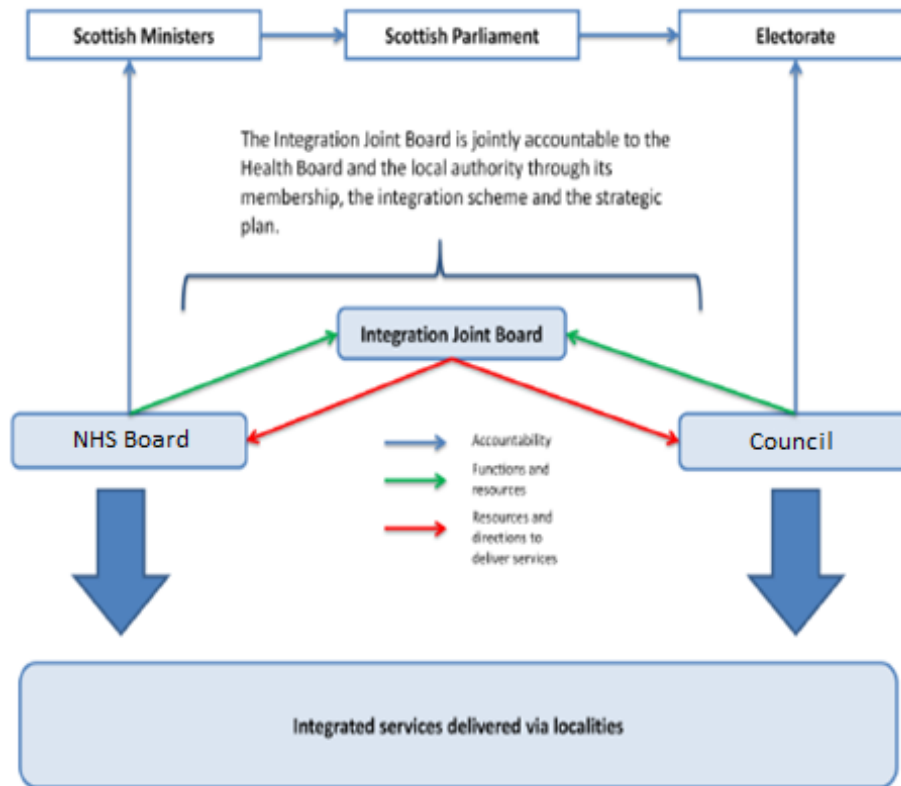

Voting members (local council and NHS board)

Non-voting members (GPs, voluntary sector, carers, service users....)

9 national outcomes, but few standard measures

.....£8 billion

Size does matter

Delays in agreeing budgets:

- Public sector reductions and uncertainty
- Set-aside budgets for acute services
- Different planning cycles for councils and NHS

Budgets for localities

Greater uncertainty over longer-term funding, at a time of rising demands

Strategic plans – tend to be descriptive

Not yet clear how services will change:

- Reduction in hospital beds
- Investment in community facilities
- Shifts to prevention

Role of:

- clinicians & GPs?
- Housing?
- voluntary sector?
- carers?

Continuing focus on acute sector?

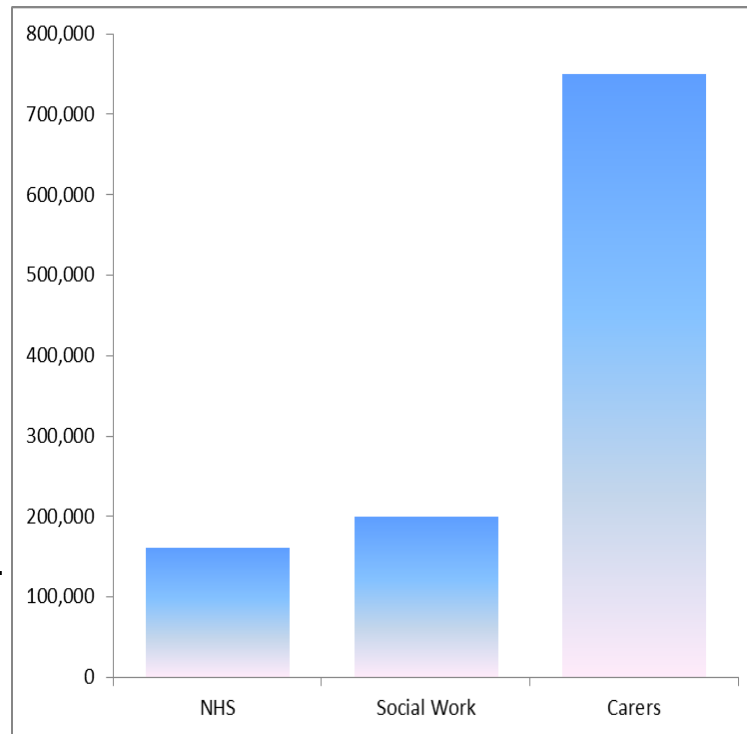

Clear strategic direction?

Need for workforce strategies

- Coordinate diverse range of:
 - carers
 - voluntary
 - NHS
 - social work staff
 - housing
- Shaped by budget cuts rather than future needs?
- Different NHS and council cultures (cuts, private sector).

GP resources and workload

Focus on outcomes, eg:

People are able to look after and improve their own health & wellbeing and live in good health for longer.

Health & social care services contribute to reducing health inequalities.

Baseline information?

Are the right measures being used?

- Shift towards prevention?
- Shift to community-based care?

Targets? What will success look like?

Are we there yet?

Ambitious

Widespread support

Needs to succeed

- Demographics
- Budget cuts

It might just work....

Start around June? Publish early 2018?

Issues we know we will look at:

- Governance
- Budgets
- Strategic planning
- Service redesign
- Localities
