

Key messages from a VHS workshop supported by the NHS Health Scotland Inequalities Learning Collaborative

2 in 3 people in Scotland are overweight or obese

Obesity can cause a wide range of health related difficulties

And cost lots of money: in Tayside alone over £80 million is spent on Type 2 Diabetes

School meals in Scotland serve children pudding more often than soup

Clustering of unhealthy food/drink provision in the most deprived communities is a problem

Food production in Scotland is geared for exports and not for nourishment

Break down the policy silos!

There is a need to take a whole government, cross-portfolio approach to tackling obesity

Social prescribing and the 3rd sector are key to addressing obesity in Scotland

Let's coproduce solutions with communities, 3rd and public sectors, medical professionals, and government
